Brooklyn, New York, January 2008 – Circuit Productions, Inc., the recipient of the New York State Music Fund grant (“Music Fund”), announced today that Winter 2008 programs will feature the work of Sarah McLawler, one of three commissioned composers for RHYTHM JOURNEYS: MASTERS OF JAZZ AND WORLD MUSIC. The project is a series of free and low-cost concerts showcasing jazz and world music throughout New York City and State in collaboration with local cultural and educational institutions.

Circuit Productions, through its community outreach series, RHYTHM JOURNEYS, continues to provide new music and live performances presenting senior and emerging artists in a range of culturally relevant music programming aimed primarily at youth and family audiences in culturally under-served communities state-wide. “We are thrilled to advocate for and present such a diverse group of artists,” said Susan Goldbetter, Executive Director of Circuit Productions, “who bring their contemporary and world music to new communities.”

Sarah McLawler will be featured on Hammond organ - a rare treat for local New York City audiences - on February 23, 2008 at 2pm, Brooklyn Heights Branch Library, 280 Cadman Plaza West, Brooklyn, New York. For details/travel contact Brooklyn Heights Library, 718.623-7100. McLawler’s earliest introduction to music was piano and organ playing in her father's church in Indiana. Later, she became interested in secular music – Jazz meeting both the famous Hampton family (Lionel and Slyde) and the Wes Montgomery family.

Shortly after winning a music scholarship to Fisk University in the 1940's she began touring with the Lucky Millander Big Band. Striking out on her own she soon formed the "all-girls" band known as The Syn-Co-Ettes. Their extraordinary popularity brought them to Chicago where they became the house band at the great Savoy Ballroom. Ms. McLawler's recordings for Brunswick and Vee-Jay Records include some of the greatest standards in jazz music. Sarah has been a recipient of a Meet the Composer grant; Outstanding Jazz Artist Award, St. Peters Church; WWRL's Jazz Woman of the Year; a Lifetime Achievement from International Women in Jazz; and the Music Danceology Award. In March 2005 she went to Virginia Tech University as part of a Ford Foundation grant award through Circuit Productions.

The New York State Music Fund published guidelines and criteria and accepted grant applications in a number of categories, including music education and public performances of music by artists working in hip hop, reggae, fusion, jazz, classical and folk music of all cultures. Applications related to recording, distribution, or broadcast through traditional or new media were also eligible. Special emphasis was placed on reaching underserved populations and broadening awareness of artists, genres or styles with limited access to commercial broadcast or other mass distribution vehicles.

Advisory Panels comprised of recognized leaders from a cross-section of the music world evaluated and recommended applications based on criteria focusing on artistic merit and community impact. The award to Circuit Productions was among nearly 400 grants totaling more than $35 million made by the Music Fund.

Funding for Rhythm Journeys: Masters of Jazz and World Music was provided with funds from the New York State Music Fund, established by the New York State Attorney General at Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors
